Power of Education: Project Mala Alumni Step into Prestigious Public Service Roles

We are delighted to share some inspiring news from the Project Mala family that reflects the long-term impact of your generous and continued support.

While Project Mala began with a focus on quality primary education, nearly 18 years ago we took a visionary step by extending our classes to senior levels. This initiative was designed to give deserving students the opportunity to pursue higher education and stable careers. Today, we are proud to witness the powerful outcomes of that decision.

In 2025, seven of our former students have started their prestigious jobs in government service, bringing immense pride to our entire community.

Saumya Raj has cleared in the Staff Selection Commission – Combined Graduate Level (SSC CGL) examination, one of India's most competitive national-level exams, and has joined as an Assistant Section Officer in the Ministry of Education, Delhi. Becoming a Central Government Officer is a remarkable achievement. His journey is particularly inspiring: despite qualifying for a military school in middle school, he chose to continue at Project Mala and later completed his higher education at the esteemed Banaras Hindu University (BHU).

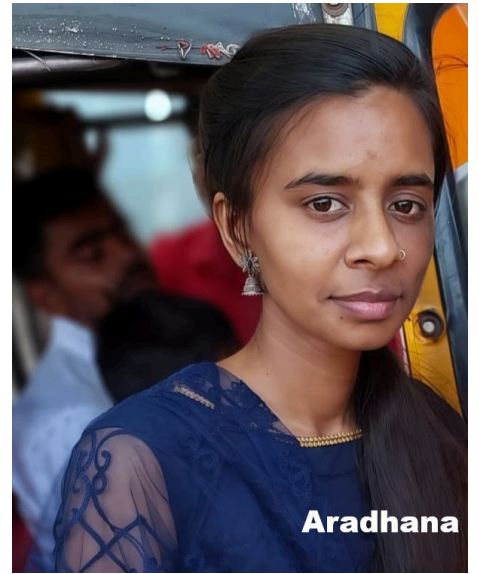

We are also proud of Rishabh, who has been selected for the Indian Army. He passed Class 12 in 2024 and is originally from Turkahan. During his stay in the Project Mala hostel, Rishabh began focused physical training. Ranjit and Vivek, two committed alumni, have joined the Uttar Pradesh Police force.

Our girls are equally setting powerful examples. One of our alumni Maya has been appointed as a Nursing Officer at the All-India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS), marking a significant achievement in the healthcare sector.

Priya has embraced the noble profession of teaching and is now serving as a Primary School Teacher in Bihar, contributing directly to the education of the next generation.

Adding to these proud accomplishments, Aradhana, one of our alumni, has recently been selected for the paramilitary force. She studied at Project Mala from Class 1 to Class 12 and passed in 2019, and her long association with the school, along with her success in a demanding national selection process, reflects her resilience and determination.

These outstanding alumni have overcome significant personal and socio-economic challenges to emerge as role models for hundreds of students who aspire to follow in their footsteps. Their journeys reaffirm the transformative power of education and the enduring value of sustained support.

We extend our heartfelt congratulations to these bright stars of Project Mala and our deepest gratitude to you, our supporters and well-wishers, whose belief and generosity have made these success stories possible.
